

Canaries In A Mine: Trans* Educators' Multiple Roles in Higher Education

Wednesday, October 17, 2018

4:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Frick Center, Founders Lounge

Contact Information

The William R. Johnson Intercultural Lecture

Dr. S. Simmons highlights the stories of trans* people in post-secondary education. A full-time lecturer at the University of Chicago, Simmons explores the discrimination, invisibility, harassment as well as community, solidarity and resistance experienced by/with trans* educators. The goal: to illuminate expanded concepts of gender, identity and experiences in the hope that we all can live, learn and work in affirming, liberating environments.