

Dea Ex Machina: Using Feminine Images of God to Describe AI

Kristel Clayville

Much of the language that is used to talk about AI draws on apocalyptic discourse as well as on images of God that are rooted in ideas of God's omniscience. Rev. Dr. Kristel Clayville is a lecturer in ethics in the computer science department at University of Illinois Chicago, where she also teaches in the medical school. Her talk will center other aspects of God's being from biblical texts and feminist theology, to offer ways to think about AI on different terms.
